I'm using ArcMap 10.2. I need to create a layer of small businesses by searching for those with emails AND for those with first/last names on the street address, but in a business sector. I searched online for an answer, but did not find a satisfactory one. A: You can try and build your query on the fly as such: Text Fields: (first name, last name, street address) Enter the expression: "" =! "" and FirstName = "First Name") and LastName = "Last Name" and StreetAddress = "Street Address") and then choose the field type "Join with". The only downside of this approach is that if you have a street address in the entry for the feature but no first/last name you'll get an error and the join won't happen. Also, if your first name or last name isn't spelled exactly the same as what you typed (like Joe Smith) you'll get an error. ArcCatalog: Some Notes on the above approach: The expression " "" =! "" and FirstName = "First Name")" is required to have the string " "" =! "" (no quotes, but double the double quote) to make it function correctly. Otherwise it will fail to find the first/last name in the StreetAddress field. "StreetAddress") is also required to have (no quotes) only that field's expression. "FirstName") is optional since this is typically a text field. Query and Join: If you had a field named "State" for example the expression will end up like: "" =! "" and State = "State")" /**
